Employee's Guide to Health Plans

	Definition	Primary Care Physician (PCP)	Network of Providers	Referrals	Deductibles, Coinsurance, Copayments, Claim Forms
Fee-for-Service (FFS)	Health coverage that reimburses health care providers for services for employees. Tends to be the most costly for employers.	Not required; employees can choose any provider.	No network; employees can choose any provider.	Not required.	Deductibles and coinsurance may be required. Claim forms may be used.
Health Maintenance Organization (HMO)	Covers services performed solely by providers in a network. This tends to be a low cost system, but is more restrictive than other plans.	Required; the PCP coordinates all medical care and must make referrals to specialty providers for employees.	Services by out-of-network providers are not typically covered under the plan.	Required; PCP coordinates all medical care.	May require employee cost-sharing through deductibles, co-pays or coinsurance.
Preferred Provider Organization (PPO)	Has a network of providers, but also allows use of medical providers outside of the plan's network (typically with greater employee cost-sharing). Referrals may not be required. Is more flexible than an HMO, but also more expensive generally.	Not typically required. Some PPO vendors offer incentives for employees to visit a PCP to coordinate medical care.	There is a network, and the plan allows for use of out-of-network providers with greater cost-sharing by employees.	May not be required.	Coinsurance, deductibles and co-pays are the standard; usually lower when using in-network providers.
High Deductible Health Plan (HDHP)	A high deductible health plan is often paired with a tax-advantaged account to pay for medical expenses. The most prominent options are Health Reimbursement Arrangements (HRAs) and Health Savings Accounts (HSAs) used in conjunction with savings accounts.	Not required but there are incentives for using providers that are reasonably priced.	Not required but are offered to bring savings to employers and employees.	Not required.	Typically low or no coinsurance after the deductible is met. Deductibles are substantially higher than other plans.

Health Savings Account (HSA)	A health savings account is a tax-advantaged account used to pay for qualified medical expenses. An HSA must be used in conjunction with an HDHP. An advantage of an HSA is that the funds remaining in the account at the end of the plan year are rolled over into the account for the next year.	Not Required. Point-of-Service Plan (POS)	Plan combines elements of an HMO and PPO. Each time employees need health care, they can choose how it will be received. If an employee initially sees a PCP and stays in-network, then more substantial benefits will be received versus not seeing a PCP first.	Required when accessing HMO-like benefits of the plan.
